FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Multiple Attorney Generals' Offices across the Nation Choose LawBase

Product implemented in attorney generals' offices to help simplify matter and case management

DENVER – April 29, 2014 – LawBase, the leading case and matter management system designed to increase productivity, today announced that the company's flagship product has been chosen by multiple attorney generals' offices across the nation.

The most recent state to join the growing list of states choosing to use LawBase is West Virginia. Others include:

- Kansas
- Missouri
- South Carolina
- South Dakota
- Tennessee
- Wisconsin
- Connecticut

"We chose LawBase because of the adaptability of the program, the interface with our new ECM system and its ability to convert data from our large legacy Oracle database," stated Scott Eliasson, agency IT manager for the Connecticut attorney general's office. "The LawBase team has been exceptional to work with and the rollout of the application has gone very smoothly. The increased productivity and ease of use of the product has really made a difference in our office."

"We are honored and proud that so many attorney generals' offices across the nation see the value in LawBase and have chosen to implement the product in their offices," said Phil Homburger, president of LawBase. "LawBase is designed to make offices more productive and is tailored to meet the needs of our clients – whether they are law firms, corporate legal departments or government agencies."
