FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

LawBase's Legal Project Management Module based upon the Award-Winning BakerManage® Framework

The valuable addition to its case and matter management software will be demonstrated at #Legalweek18 Booth #309

Denver – January 23, 2018 – LawBase, the preeminent case and matter management system designed to increase productivity, has partnered with LegalShift, a leading legal management consulting and advisory firm, to integrate the award-winning legal project management (LPM) framework, BakerManage®, into its LawBase offering. LawBase will showcase this innovative LPM toolset next week at Legaltech New York in booth #309 and in the company's Product Demonstration Suite.

This enhancement offers clients an LPM methodology that has been implemented across thousands of legal matters and is proven to achieve significant cost savings and efficiencies for legal teams and their clients. The LPM software is available as an integrated component of LawBase or as a stand-alone product. The LPM capabilities include:

- A proven LPM workflow
- Project planning and statement of work development
- Team roles and responsibilities definition
- Legal spend and matter estimating tools
- Budget monitoring and change order tracking
- Status reporting templates
- Enhanced data capture to support alternative pricing
- Workflows to promote collaborative client and team communications
- A process for capturing improvements or opportunities for future innovation

"Partnering with LegalShift to bring Baker Donelson's BakerManage® LPM to our users is an important step in offering our clients the most robust case and matter management system," states Phil Homburger, president of LawBase. "We have prided ourselves over the years on collaborating with leading organizations and integrating popular legal software into LawBase to make sure our clients have the best possible return on their investment. We are dedicated to always providing the best technology to our clients."

LPM expert David Rueff explains, "Based on my experience and leveraging BakerManage® LPM over the past six years with Baker Donelson's lawyers and clients, I have seen the dramatic impact that LPM processes can have on the lawyer/client relationship. Specifically, our teams have experienced upwards of a 30 percent reduction in spend and a corresponding 50 percent reduction in matter duration through LPM. Importantly, LPM enables service providers to meet these objectives while still optimizing return on investment."

"We are pleased that LawBase has selected our BakerManage® LPM framework as a foundation for its LawBase LPM software," shares Scott Rosenberg, managing director and corporate counsel of LegalShift. "We work with our clients to implement LPM processes resulting in greater transparency and proactive management of the business side of legal matters."
