FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

LawBase Reviewed by New York State Administrative Law Judges Association

Denver, CO - February 27, 2013 – LawBase™, the leading case and matter management system designed to increase productivity, today announces the New York State Administrative Law Judges Association (NYALJA) has posted a review of LawBase on their web site.

The review, written by Eric Zaidins was posted on February 22 for the Technology Friday column on the site. According to Zaidins, he chose to write about LawBase because “LegalTech NY 2013 offered a great many case management systems. Some are impressive, though most can’t handle administrative hearing/courtroom needs. Only one stood out as appropriate: Synaptec Software’s LawBase Case and Matter Management.” He went on to talk about the capabilities and reasons why LawBase is a great option for managing cases. He lists the following pros about the product:

- Intuitive design and straightforward approach.
- Clients can execute directly using Windows 7, Vista or XP SP3, and alternatively, can use nothing more than a web browser and connect to an application server.

“We were very happy with the review of LawBase that Mr. Zaidins completed,” stated Phil Homburger, president of LawBase. “He really took the time to look at the product and review our capabilities as well as our pricing model. This review is a great overview of our product and really showcases why it is a great product to help manage a busy office.”

In the last year, the company has released enhancements to LawBase, including expanded reporting capabilities, enhanced bi-directional integration with Microsoft Exchange, and the best bi-directional integration with Worldox Document Management available. The company continues to listen to their clients and users for product updates.
