FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

LawBase Partners with Uptime Systems to offer Law Firms Cloud-Based Access to Company's Signature Product

Denver – June 18, 2014 – LawBase, the leading case and matter management system designed to increase productivity, today announced that the company has partnered with Uptime Systems™ to bring a new option to solo and small law firms looking to use the company's signature product.

Uptime Systems is a complete hosted solution for law firms. It brings legal software, document storage, and email to small law firms without the need for costly servers that require management or outside IT support.

"We understand that solo and small firms need much of the same programs and applications that larger law firms need – but they may not have the resources available to them," stated Phil Homburger, president of LawBase. "Uptime is a great service. It offers access to cloud-based products, which enables smaller firms to have access to many of the same programs available to larger firms, so they can run their firms more efficiently and cost effectively – and be more competitive. We have been refining and perfecting LawBase for more than 34 years to make it the most flexible, powerful and easy-to-use case and matter management package on the market. This partnership is a great fit for our organization."

Uptime Systems offers:

- LawBase™ hosting
- Microsoft Office and storage for documents
- Exchange email
- Complete printer and scanner support
- Application and IT support
- Dedicated cloud server
- Other legal applications (such as accounting)
